Health Advisory: Senegal

Peanut Allergies

In Senegal, peanuts are the primary crop and are used in many local dishes. It is not possible to avoid exposure. Students with extreme peanut allergies are strongly discouraged from participation in this program. Students with peanut allergies who choose to participate in this program will be required to complete a supplemental medical release form through CIEE.